

BUSINESS IMMIGRATION ALERT

A complimentary service of the McCandlish Holton Immigration Practice Group

BREAKING NEWS: Government Further Delays Implementation of E-Verify and I-9 Rules

The federal government is again postponing implementation of the E-Verify requirement for federal contractors, this time until June 30, 2009. The effective date of the E-Verify rule, which is currently the subject of ongoing litigation, was previously postponed from January 15, 2009 until February 20, 2009, and then until May 21, 2009. It has been delayed again until June 30, 2009 in order to give the Obama administration an additional opportunity to review the rule.

This Alert is a summary of important developments in business immigration law for clients and friends of McCandlish Holton's Immigration Practice Group. This publication does not constitute legal advice. Please consult with an attorney before acting on any information in this Alert. Information about the IPG and additional immigration-related information is located on our website at: www.lawmh.com/practice\_areas/immigration.htm

To unsubscribe, reply to this email with "Unsubscribe" in the subject line.